and Clergyman Meet on Equal Terms Under Auspices of National Civic Federation—Mr. Carnegie
Jumps on Couch to Welcome Visitors—Archbishop Farley Present.

New York, April 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie had at home this evening to about 300 teamsters, bankers, hotel-keepers, lawyers, stone cutters, capitalists, carpenters, clerks, bricklayers, publishers, and other artisans. It all came off at the magnificent Carnegie home, at Ninety-first street and Fifth avenue, and its name was an "Industrial Peace Evening," under the auspices of the National Civic Federation.

The guests were invited for $35, and as the talking did not begin until nearly 9 o'clock, they had ample opportunity to wander through the spacious rooms of the big house and admire what they saw. The distributing point for the arrivals was the great hall. Thence they passed into the drawing-room, where Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie and Miss Whitfield, Mrs. Carnegie's sister, were waiting to receive them. Ralph M. Easley, who knows everybody in the camps of both employers and employees, was there to see that all hands were properly identified. After being presented to the host and hostess, the guests strolled at their will through the suite of rooms on the ground floor.

The invitations bore the word "informal," with the result that most of the men present wore business suits or frock coats. A good many notable figures were there.

All Walks of Life There.

The big rooms were full of contrasts, which will perhaps be made evident by the mere recital of a few names. Among those who wandered about from room to room or stood about chatting in little groups were: Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company; Daniel J. O'Keefe, president of the International Longshoremen's Union; Leslie M. Shaw, ex-Secretary of the Treasury; Robert J. Riddell, of the Double Drum Hoist; George Haven Putnam, William J. Skinner, of the Stone Setters' Union; the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Henry Kossow, of the Bartenders' Union; John D. Crimmins, Michael Brayer, of the Cloth Spenders' Union; Adolph Lewisohn, D. C. Davis, of the Bricklayers' Union; Woodbury Langdon, capitalist; Ed Gould, of the Teamsters' Union.

When the meeting was called in the hall, Mr. Carnegie jumped upon a couch and called the guests to order. Archbishop Farley and Mr. Lavelle had come in a few minutes before. Just beside the archbishop sat Seth Low, while Mr. Belmont perched himself upon the organ bench. A little to one side stood T. V. Powderly, the old labor leader. John Mitchell was not far away.

Carnegie Welcomes Guests.

Mr. Carnegie first welcomed those present as his guests in the name of Mrs. Carnegie and himself. He said that he thought it peculiarly appropriate to have an industrial peace evening so soon before the great peace conference. Peace, like charity, should begin at home. He went on to urge the virtues of the necessity of arbitration in industrial matters as well as in international disputes.

Mr. Carnegie went on to say that the real cause of most strikes was not trouble about wages, but the failure of employers to give sufficient recognition to their men.

"There is no time more important than this for a gathering of this nature," began Mr. Belmont. "It is very easy to remain at peace during prosperous times, but sometimes times change. It is not desirable to pose as a prophet or as an alarmist, but it is unquestioned that we should prepare ourselves through just such gatherings as this to understand and solve the problems which are likely to arise at any time to be confronted."

Addresses were made by Archbishop Farley and others.

After the addresses the guests swarmed into the billiard room, where a buffet supper was served.

HILL HELD IN $1,000 BAIL.

E. H. Harriman's Former Stenographer
Charged with Misconduct.

New York, April 5.—E. H. Harriman's discharged stenographer, Frank W. Hill, who is charged with selling the notes of a letter which Mr. Harriman wrote to Sidney Webster, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court before Magistrate Wahl to-day, charged with misdemeanor in willfully and without authority taking a letter of another, or a copy of the same, and publishing it.

Hill was held in $1,000 bail for examination on Monday morning. His counsel, ex-Magistrate Alfred E. Ommen, protested against the amount of the bail, calling attention to the fact that the charge is only a misdemeanor, and that $500 is the usual amount named.

Hill is tall and thin. He has a dark mustache, just turning gray, and dark brown hair. He was apparently not much worried, and willing enough to talk had his counsel permitted him to do so. Mrs. Hill was permitted to talk to her husband while he waited for his case to be called. She seemed far more concerned than he.

THOMAS ATTACKS RYAN.

Virginia State Senator Publishes
Open Letter on Politics.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Richmond, Va., April 5.—Senator A. F. Thomas, of Lynchburg, who has attracted considerable attention throughout the State on account of his avowed opposition to the renomination of Senator John W. Daniel for the United States Senate, is by no means satisfied with existing political conditions in Virginia. The following is an extract from an open letter which he has just issued:

"The Democratic executive committee of the State is appointed by a State chairman. It consists of ten members, chief of whom is Thomas F. Ryan, who, with four railroad attorneys, two of whom are chief counsel for two trunk lines traversing the State, form half of the committee. It is patent that they, with the aid of the chairman, can dominate the organization, or wield a subtle, though powerful, influence upon party politics."

BARONESS IS IMPROVING.

Belgian Minister Tells of Nervous Breakdown of Social Leader.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Baltimore, Md., April 5.—The condition of Baroness Moncheur, who is a patient of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, was reported to-night as being favorable. "The baroness is exhausted as a result of her many social obligations," said the doctor. "Also the death of my daughter, Louise, has been a great shock to her."

"She began to break down in health several weeks ago, and it was while in Baltimore visiting the mother of my first wife, Mrs. G. P. Whitley, that we decided to consult Dr. Barker, of the Johns Hopkins. The consultation resulted in the baroness going to the institution for the rest cure."

CARNegie MAKES MORE GIFTS.

Doubles Endowment of Institute of Pittsburg and Breaks Record.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 5.—Andrew Carnegie to-day gave the Carnegie Institute, of Pittsburg, $3,000,000, thereby doubling the endowment of the institution.

One million dollars in cash and $2,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds were given to the Carnegie Technical Schools at the same time. The gift of to-day made a total of $6,000,000, which Andrew Carnegie has given to this, his home city—the largest amount ever given to any one place by any one man, living or dead.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Institute a letter from Mr. Carnegie was read announcing the gifts.

SENDS THREAT TO PRESIDENT

Man from Texas Arrested in New York by Federal Officer.

Demanding Pension for Widow of Brother Who Was in Spanish War—Was in Asylum.

New York, April 5.—Acting under instructions from Washington, P. L. Cole, a United States special examiner, caused the arrest this afternoon of Marcos Flores, a driver, living in the Mills Hotel, and had him sent to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital. Flores is said to have written letters containing threats against President Roosevelt. Venezuelan Warner, United States Commissioner of Pensions, and other government officials, Flores is an undersized man, thirty-five years old, and very dark. He says he comes from noble Spanish stock. He was arrested at 32 Broadway and taken to the Tombs Police Court. He denied having made any threats, or that he intended to harm the president.

"I wrote you one letter to President Roosevelt," he said. "In that I congratulated him, and he sent me a letter in reply, thanking me. You know Roosevelt is all right when you put him on the back, but he's hell if you go after him for favors."

Special Examiner Cole told Magistrate Wahl that he had learned that Flores came to this city from San Antonio, Tex., with his brother Alfredo ten years ago. The brother enlisted for the Spanish war and was honorably discharged.

He died last Thanksgiving Day at 337 West Forty-fourth street, where his widow and one child are now living. Since his death, Marcos, the man under arrest, has been trying to get a pension for the widow on the ground that the brother contracted his illness in the service. The application was rejected.

"He kept writing letters to the Commissioner of Pensions until the authorities decided he ought to be restrained. The widow seems to think Flores was justified in his fixed grievance about the rejected pension."

"My husband died because he fought in the war from which Roosevelt got most of his glory. Now they deny us simple justice," she declared to Policeman Flood.

"I believe," Examiner Cole reported to Washington, "that on the impulse of the moment Flores would do bodily harm. He appears, however, to be honest, industrious, and thrifty. He boasts that he escaped from an insane asylum in San Antonio ten years ago."

"THE CONSPIRATORS"

ATTACK OWN ALLIES

Salvador Troops Fire on Hondurans by Mistake.

CAUSE OF BONILLA'S DEFEAT

With Enemy Facing Them, Allies Clash
and Nicaraguans Win Victory Because of Salvadoreans Withdrawing.
Opera Bouffe Character of War Is Plainly Illustrated by the Incident.

Mobile, Ala., April 5.—The true story of the collapse of President Bonilla's cause in Honduras reached here, and it illustrates to a fine point the opera bouffe character of the revolutions and wars which so frequently disturb those little republics. According to the story which was brought here by a gentleman, who has the highest authority for his statements, the armies of the allies, Honduras and Salvador, began fighting each other while the common enemy was pressing around them, and the result was soon apparent.

It appears that the allied armies were entrenched at Choletua, holding quite an extended line, with Bonilla and the Hondurans holding the right and the Salvadoreans the left. There were some Honduran revolutionists on the Nicaraguan border, not far away, who were threatening the flank of the Hondurans. Zelaya, making the revolutionists do the first fighting.

Allies Soon Engaged.

President Bonilla sent a detachment out, and this detachment passed near the Salvadoreans. They thought it was the Honduran revolutionists, and opened fire. The Hondurans, thinking their allies had gone back on them, returned the fire, and soon both lines were engaged, killing and wounding a great many.

Finally, when an effort to bring about an understanding was made, both sides accused the other of treachery, and the Salvadoran general withdrew his army and moved toward his own country. Thus President Bonilla realized his reduced force, and demoralization set in.

The Honduran revolutionists and the Nicaraguans took possession of Ciudad Trujillo, without much opposition, and Bonilla made his way to Amapala with a few hundred loyal followers.

It is claimed that a number of the deserters took possession of Ciudad Trujillo, and if he can get away from Amapala he will have no difficulty in organizing a formidable army, and continuing the war a long time.

Suicide's Body Identified.

Baltimore, Md., April 5.—By means of a button torn from his trousers and a small piece of cloth, a man who committed suicide on March 23 was identified by his brothers to-day. He was Thurber Randall, of Hancock, Delaware County, N. Y. The body of the man, who was twenty-three years old, was discovered by two boys shortly after he had shot himself. The body will be shipped to his home for burial.

Merry del Val May Resign.

London, Rome 5.—A news-agency dispatch from Rome says there is every probability that Cardinal Merry del Val will resign his post as Papal secretary of state as a result of the publication of the seized Montagnini documents, but not until the sensation created by the publication has subsided.

Hartford, Conn., April 5.—John Miffitt, a blind man, has inserted the following advertisement in a newspaper:

"Wanted—A wife. Am twenty-six years old. Want a girl that is amiable and about the same age. Letters and photographs can be sent to John Miffitt, 51 Brown street, Hartford, Conn."

Miffitt is a broom maker, and earns good wages. When asked what he wanted features of his bride-elect for, he said he intended to show them to his friends to pass judgment on. He said to-day that he has received from a Manchester woman an answer to his advertisement, and that he was going there to-morrow to see about her.

TWO-CENT FARE BILL A LAW.

Gov. Stuart Signs Measure for Maximum Railroad Rate.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 5.—Gov. Stuart to-day signed the bill making the maximum rate of fare on railroads within this State 2 cents a mile.

The new law goes into effect on September 30, and applies to all steam railways. It prescribes a penalty of $1,000 for any corporation which violates its provisions, and also provides that a single fare need not be less than 1 cent.

Every political party in Pennsylvania was pledged to a 2-cent fare in the last campaign. The railroads claim that the act is unconstitutional.

FIFTY PERISH IN CYCLONE

Louisiana Swept by Storm—One Hundred Buildings Wrecked.

Inmates of Insane Asylum in Panic
and Several Woman Patients
Leap to Their Death.

Memphis, Tenn., April 5.—More than fifty persons are thought to have been killed and many more injured in a tornado that originated near Alexandria, La., and swept Louisiana and northeastern Texas for 30 miles at an early hour this morning. The property loss is also very heavy, and especially in Alexandria, where more than 100 stores, factories, churches, and dwellings were demolished, eight whites and four negroes killed, and twenty more or less injured.

The storm swept a country well tilted, and reports are mainly by messengers and are slow coming in, but there is little doubt that the casualty list will go over the foregoing estimate. Nine empty passenger coaches were blown from an Alexandria siding and turned over, and then riddled with wreckage flying before the tornado.

The large Natchez and Bayou Sara packet Betsy Ann shoved her nose into the edge of the storm as it crossed the Mississippi River. The wind blew away the boat's spars, booms, stages, and her cabin deck off to the smokestacks, but no one was killed, and the hull being uninjured and the chimneys still standing, the boat made her way into port.

Growing crops in the storm's track have been wiped out by the accompanying hail. When the tornado struck Jackson, where the State Insane Asylum is located, it looked as though it would destroy all the buildings.

The howling of the wind caused a panic among the women in the female ward, and despite the efforts of the keepers, a number of the inmates sprang from windows, three being killed and a number of them seriously injured. The grounds and buildings were torn up by the storm, the loss being estimated at $250,000.

AFRAID OF CHANLER'S BOOK.

Dealers Refuse to Handle Alleged Expose of Bloomingdale.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Richmond, Va., April 5.—So uncompromisingly aggressive is John Armstrong Chanler, A. B. A. M., and member of the New York bar, in his much-discussed book, "Four Years Behind the Bars of Bloomingdale; or, The Bankruptcy of Law in New York," that the Richmond dealers are afraid to handle the volume.

Indeed, they have been advised not to do so by members of the legal profession, who state that by so doing they will lay themselves liable to a suit for damages on account of veiled sneers used in the book against a certain Richmond lawyer who is known through his description rather than his name, which is left blank in the book.

Chanler, however, who was in the city to-day, says that he will advertise and sell his book if he has to go up in a balloon and drop hand bills throughout the city and country.

LINER ADRIAT IN HELL GATE.

Five Hundred Passengers in Terror
Watch Lifeboats Manned.

New York, April 5.—Five hundred passengers were in dire peril early to-day
when for nearly two hours the big Fall River liner Providence drifted about helpless in the swirls and eddies of Hell Gate, with a disabled rudder, until rescued by the fireboat Zophar Mills and towed to her dock.

Roused out of their berths by the alarm
whistles of the steamer, the passengers shivered with fear and cold, thronging the decks, white faced and tense with anxiety.

Officers and crew did what they could to allay the fright, but the emergency preparations, such as clearing away the life-boat lashings and the distribution of life preservers, only made the passengers the more anxious.

Rome, April 5.—The Pope, his sisters, Cardinal Merry del Val, and several other prelates were present yesterday at an entertainment given by Engineer Vannucci, an employee of the Vatican, who,
by means of a bioscope, showed views of the principal cities of the United States, especially Washington and New York, explaining each picture briefly.
The Pope thanked Signor Vannucci warmly, saying he felt that he had almost realized his wish to visit the New World.

DEADLOCK NOT BROKEN.

Only Six Days of Rhode Island Session Now Remain.

Providence, R. I., April 5.—The twelfth week of balloting for United States Senator concluded with the forty-eighth ballot. Goddard polled his full vote of 41, while both the Republican candidates fell below their normal standing, through the absence of their supporters. Colt had 37; Wetmore, 23, and Utter 1.
Only six more days of the legislative session remain, and there is apparently no prospect of breaking the deadlock.

publican Presidential candidates, excluding Roosevelt, resulted as follows:

Taft, 45; La Follette, 18; Root, 16;
Hughes, 6; Cannon, 2; Dooliver, 2; Fair-

The Democratic ballot resulted:

ONE OF "HONEST 28" TO WED

Composer Nevill Will Marry Mrs.
Dean, of Washington, To-day.

Bride Was Recently Divorced from Dr. Davis A. Dean, of Pittsburg.
Wedding in New York.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Pittsburg, April 5.—Pittsburg smiled tonight when it became known quietly that Arthur Nevill, composer, author, and socialist, would to-morrow morning, in New York, marry Mrs. Mazie Lyman Dean, lately divorced from her husband, Dr. Davis A.
Dean, of Pittsburg.

Nevill was one of the men composing the "Twenty-eight distinguished sons of Pittsburg," as held up by the chamber of commerce at its annual banquet last night, a proceeding which caused much amusement.

Mrs. Dean, whose divorce was granted quietly June 30 last, has since that time been living in Washington, her former home.

There was such a mass of sensational testimony given in the divorce trial that it was thought best to have the matter suppressed entirely, which was done in some way for the time in court. Within the past seven or eight hours Attorney Thomas Marshall, who handled the case for Mrs. Dean, went into the county courts and received permission to take all papers bearing on Mrs. Dean's divorce from the courthouse. It would not do to have this matter made public now,
those in on the marriage list figured.

Attorney Marshall to-night declared, and most emphatically, that he has the papers in his safe, and that he intends to keep them there. Mrs. Dean applied for the divorce and obtained it on the grounds of desertion and non-support.

The courts have been importuned by friends of both sides, and the papers have been secreted until after the wedding of the famous Pittsburg society woman to Nevill, one of Pittsburg's distinguished sons.

Mrs. Dean, whose divorce was granted quietly last June, has since lived in Washington, at 183 Irving street northwest.
She went several days ago to New York city, where the marriage is to take place
this morning.

Col. F. W. Prince Dead.

New York, April 5.—Col. Frederick W.

moted. He was in business in Geneva, N. Y., for many years after the war, and then served as United States consul at Belleville, Canada.

Dowager Czarina's Late Visit to

that Match Has Been Arranged Between Czar's Brother Michael and Princess Victoria—Plans Reported
Maturing for Over a Month.

London, April 6.—The Mirror, which is owned by the proprietors of the Daily Mail, professes to have excellent authority for stating that the Czar will abdicate within a month; and that his brother, Grand Duke Michael, will be appointed regent during the minority of the Czarevitch. It adds that the Dowager Czarina, and a military dictatorship will be formed, with the object of stamping out revolution and ending the present trouble in Russia.

The paper further says the Czar's mind has lately completely given away, and that he has shown himself incapable of performing the smallest duties of his rank.

The Mirror submitted this report to the Russian Embassy, where it was denied.
Nevertheless, it insists that its information is correct, and the details of the scheme, which is now definitely settled,
have been decided in outline for a month.
